Who We Are

Skedmia is an online certification platform for people whose work gets audited. We train you to pass, not just to understand the standard on paper.

We teach across quality, health and safety, food safety and Halal, environment and energy, IT and cyber security, oil and gas, and management. Some of it is ISO. A lot of it is the everyday compliance work that keeps a site running and a company certified. Whatever the subject, the course ends the same way: a real exam, and a certificate you can verify.

The platform is run out of Abu Dhabi and everything is delivered online. That takes away the two things that usually stop people getting certified, which are where they live and when they are free. You study from any country, on your own schedule, and you learn from people who audit these standards for a living.

Our Vision

To be the name people trust when they need to get certified in the standard their work runs on, and to prove it anywhere. Not the biggest course list, but the one professionals actually believe.

Our Mission

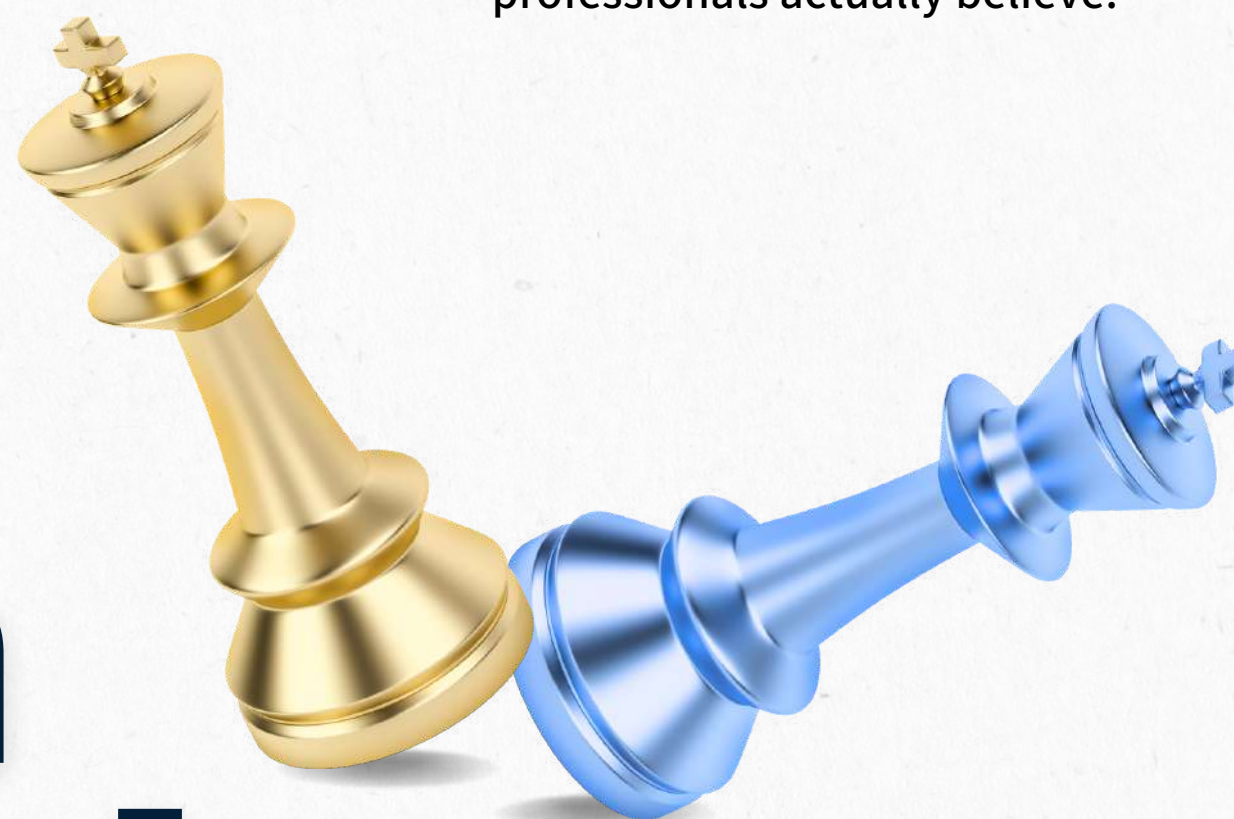

Take standards that are dense and often intimidating and make them learnable, then turn that learning into a credential you can stand behind. Across every category we teach, classes are live and led by working practitioners.

Our Purpose

Put professional certification within reach, whatever field you work in, from quality and safety to food safety, environment, energy, IT and cyber, oil and gas, and the management skills that sit underneath all of them.

What We Offer

Skedmia teaches more than 60 standards, all online, all with a live instructor and a real assessment at the end. Quality, safety, food safety and Halal, environment and energy, IT and cyber, oil and gas, and management.

ISO Management Systems

ISO 9001 (Quality), 14001 (Environment), 45001 (Safety), 27001 (Information Security), 22000 (Food Safety), 50001 (Energy) and more.

Health & Safety / QHSE

Occupational health and safety, HSE management, risk assessment and QHSE auditor training for the Gulf's construction and industrial sectors.

Food Safety & Halal

HACCP certification, ISO 22000 food safety management, and Halal compliance training for manufacturers, auditors and quality teams.

Environment & Energy

ISO 14001 environmental management and ISO 50001 energy management from awareness to lead auditor level.

IT & Cyber Security

ISO 27001 information security management and lead implementer training for IT, risk and compliance professionals.

Oil, Gas, Quality & Management

Sector-specific compliance, quality management and professional management and business-skills certifications.

Each course is built around the clauses an auditor actually checks. You finish able to run and pass an audit, not just repeat back what the standard says.

Health & Safety / QHSE

Occupational health and safety, HSE management, risk assessment and QHSE auditor training for the Gulf's construction and industrial sectors.

Environment & Energy

ISO 14001 environmental management and ISO 50001 energy management from awareness to lead auditor level.

Oil, Gas, Quality & Management

Sector-specific compliance, quality management and professional management and business-skills certifications.

Certification Ladder

Every standard is laid out as a ladder, so you always know which course comes next and which certificate the next job actually needs. Each level ends in an exam and a certificate you can verify.

Awareness / Foundation

Where teams and career-changers start. You learn what the standard is for and how its clauses fit together.

Internal Auditor

You learn to run internal audits, spot non-conformities, and get your organization ready before the external auditor turns up.

Lead Auditor

The level that qualifies you to lead certification audits. The ISO 9001, 14001 and 45001 lead auditor courses are the ones Gulf employers ask for most.

Lead Implementer

You build and run a management system yourself, from start to finish. This is usually the credential that moves an officer into a manager's seat.

Why Choose US

60+
standards for Teams &
Individuals.

- ▶ Real Practitioners. Our instructors still audit, so you learn from current experience, not old slides.
- ▶ Career-Focused Training. Training built around promotions, audit results, and approved contractor requirements.
- ▶ Certificates That Hold Up. Every course ends with an exam, giving you a certificate that stands up to scrutiny.
- ▶ 100% Online. Study from anywhere, anytime. No travel or fixed classrooms.

Who We Serve

- HSE managers, safety officers and QHSE professionals
- Quality managers, quality officers and ISO auditors
- Food-safety leads, HACCP practitioners and Halal compliance officers
- Engineers, project teams and corporate compliance departments
- Students and career-changers building a certified, verifiable profile

Skedmia is built for people whose job depends on a standard. Our learners are safety officers, quality and food-safety managers, internal and lead auditors, engineers, and the compliance teams behind them. They rarely sign up on a whim. They sign up because an audit is booked, a tender needs a standard, or a promotion is waiting on a credential.

How It Works

Register.
Learn.
Get certified.

For individuals

- Enrol online in the standard and level you need, from any country.
- Attend live classes taught by working practitioners, with case studies pulled from real audits.
- Sit the assessment and show you can apply the standard, not just recall it.
- Get your certificate to share and verify, and to defend when an auditor asks how your team was trained.

For corporate teams

We also train whole teams ahead of certification and surveillance audits. Corporate clients get reporting that maps each person's training and competence to the clauses of the standard, so the evidence of a trained team is ready before the auditor asks for it. Group enrolment, scheduling and the choice of standards are set around the company's own audit calendar.

Those numbers say something about scale, which is the size of the instructor network, how much live training runs, and how wide the catalogue goes. But scale is not what we lead with. A certificate is only worth having if it survives an audit, and that comes down to the exam behind it and the practitioner who taught the course.

Whether you are one person chasing a lead auditor certificate or a company getting a team through an audit, the process is the same. Proper training, a real exam, and a certificate that verifies. All online.
